CHLORINATOR UNAVOIDABLY DELAYED

City Won't Abandon Water Chlorination

By VIC MISUTKA
(Herald City Editor)

Fears that chlorination of Pentiction's domestic water supply might be eliminated in line with suggestions by Mayor C. E. Oliver last week, were forcefully dispelled last night by city council members who observed that policy should be based on "facts rather than opinions."

First reassurance was that there was no intention of abandoning plans for chlorination of the domestic supply from the "high line" as soon as possible. Installation of the chlorinator was scheduled for September or October but was unavoidably delayed. The chlorinator will definitely be in operation within six months, however, a council resolution said.

At the same time the aldermen, reporting many expressions of concern since the mayor aired his proposal last week, also made it plain that they would only allow abandoning of present chlorination on the main domestic water supply line, if and when the public health department certified it completely unnecessary.

NO 'FIXED VIEWS'

Sticking to his guns but claiming that he had no "fixed views" on the matter, Mayor Oliver contended there were more Canadian communities without chlorination than those with a water supply so treated, and repeated his suggestion that Pentiction might have pure water without chlorination if its watershed areas can be "kept clear" and the public kept out.

Council members disagreed that any amount of control over the watershed would make the water completely safe but heartily supported the mayor's rejoinder that contamination of the watersheds should be kept to a minimum.

The city clerk was instructed to write the Water Rights Branch and ask what control the city might exercise over its watersheds.

Sparking the discussion was a query from Sid Hodge of Pentiction Agencies on whether the plans for a chlorinator on the high line had been abandoned. "I have a bad conscience," Mr. Hodge explained. "I was told and I've been telling people that the chlorinator would be installed in September or October and here it's almost December and nothing done."

"The whole thing hinges on keeping the watershed clear," replied Mayor Oliver. "Chlorination is expensive and we may be able to do without it."

NO CONTAMINATION

He then suggested that there had been no contamination of domestic water from the "high line" to which Ald. Elsie MacCleave pointed out that over the past two years 43 per cent of the water samples tested there have shown contamination and the pollution has been as high as 80 per cent at times.

Mr. Hodge disclaimed any intention of getting into a debate on the pros and cons of chlorination. "All I know is that council last May said the chlorinator was going in and our Woodlands Subdivision would be served by it. If now it's not going in, there will be serious repercussions from both provincial and federal governments."

"I have also been asked whether the chlorinator is going in," began Ald. P. E. Pauls. "I suggest that we should confine ourselves to facts rather than opinions at this time."

Facts he cited were that for the past three years or more the South Okanagan Health Unit had repeatedly warned council that contamination of the high line was beyond the point where the water was safe for public use and as a result this year, council had budgeted $30,000 for a booster pump, pump house and chlorination equipment. Latest report from the city treasurer showed the allocation still unspent.

"I too would like to know the status of this item. I and 12,000 people, many of whom are school children, are entitled to that assurance," Ald. Pauls declared.

Explanations by Ald. P. F. Erault, board of works chairman, and E. R. Gayler, works superintendent, showed no instructions had been issued for abandoning the project and tenders have now been called for the pump. Calling of tenders for the chlorinator has been delayed for finalization of the pump details.

The installation has not been able to be completed on schedule due to a large amount of other work which council has given Mr. Gayler to do, Ald. Erault explained.

Ald. H. M. Goddes expressed some surprise that there was any suggestion of reversing the chlorinator decision. "It's never been before the domestic water committee," he said.

The resolution affirming that the high line chlorinator would be in operation within six months was then passed unanimously.

An echo of the discussion came later in the meeting, when a letter from the Pentiction Medical Association said that group endorsed chlorination of the city's domestic water supply.

"Council does, too," remarked Ald. A. C. Kendrick.

GOV'T PROPOSALS MAY AVERT RAILWAY STRIKE

STRICTLY FOR THE BIRDS

The canaries didn't know about it and neither did George Street. But the seven-day span between November 23 and 29 happens to be National Cage Bird Week. It is suggested that anyone owning a bird in a cage should show a little extra consideration to the feathered fellow. For instance, an increased ration of bird seed would be just fine.

Fulton, Bonner Consider Sorokin's Plea to Return

OTTAWA (CP)—A request by Stefan Sorokin, 56-year-old spiritual leader of British Columbia's Sons of Freedom Doukhobors, to return to Canada from Uruguay now is being considered by Justice Minister Fulton and Attorney-General Bonner of B.C., it was learned today.

An official of the external affairs department said the question of the Russian-born spiritual leader's return to Canada would be decided by the federal government after consultation with B.C. authorities.

Impaired Charge Brings $150 Fine

Alex Pushkarenko of West Summerland was fined $150 and costs by Magistrate H. J. Jennings in Pentiction Police Court yesterday afternoon when he was found guilty on a charge of impaired driving.

The charge arose when Pushkarenko was stopped by police at the corner of Westminster Avenue and Main Street in Pentiction on Nov. 15.

Crown prosecutor was Peter Vanderhoop and defence counsel was H. A. Chillingham.

Sorokin called at the Canadian consulate in Montevideo early last week asking what arrangement he would have to make to return to Canada.

Last Thursday an official of the external affairs department said the exact status of Sorokin was not clear.

HAS IDENTITY CARD

The official said today that the department now has learned that Sorokin possesses a valid identity document issued by the government of Uruguay. He could be admitted to Canada on the strength of this document or by Canada renewing his Canadian certificate of identification which expired in 1952.

Sorokin arrived in Canada as a displaced person in 1950, the year he was proclaimed spiritual leader of the radical sect, and left for Uruguay in 1952.

COULD BE DEPORTED

The official said that Sorokin is admitted this action likely will be taken on the strength of his Uruguayan identification. He would then have a country to go to if Canada later decided to deport him.

The official said Canadian authorities still don't know why Sorokin wants to return to Canada. Efforts were being made to clear up this point.

In a letter received last week in Trail, B.C., by Dr. C. H. Wright, chairman of the Kootenay more boundary citizens' committee on Doukhobor affairs, Sorokin said he had been asked by the Sons to return to Canada.

However, his letter said he would come back only in order to reconcile the sect with the Canadian government if they decide to stay in Canada or if the Soviet government rejects their request to emigrate to Siberia.

NEGOTIATIONS STALLED

Negotiations between the sect and the federal and provincial governments have been stalled by Freedomite demands that the governments, rather than the sect, should obtain a Soviet guarantee that they will be accepted by Russia.

The external affairs official listed possible reasons why Sorokin wants to return to Canada. He may be interested in urging the sect to remain in Canada in order that he may later return to Uruguay and continue to receive revenue from the sect. Or he may be interested in helping the sect to go to Russia or Uruguay, where there is a small Freedomite settlement.

Mr. Gregory said in a free-time CBC political broadcast

Commission's Remaining Pair Resign Posts

VICTORIA (CP)—The two remaining members of the B.C. Power Commission have announced their resignations, effective March 31 next.

But, said chairman T. H. Crosby, and Dr. H. J. MacLeod, they had made their decision "prior to the present controversy," and had informed Premier Bennett of their decision.

The resignation of the third commission member, I. H. Griffin, was announced by Premier Bennett on Friday, exactly one week after the commission had fired general manager H. Leo Briggs following his criticism of government debt reduction policies.

In a statement on Monday, Mr. Crosby and Dr. MacLeod said: "We wish to make our position clear."

"We had both retired from our former positions and accepted positions in the B.C. Power Commission about 4 years ago as a public service at the request of the government."

"Prior to the present controversy, we had planned to retire at the end of the present fiscal year, namely March 31, 1959 and so advised the premier."

"Our retirement will, therefore, take effect on the above-mentioned date."

"Both the premier and the two commissioners are in agreement with this announcement and issue it as a joint statement."

'Everything is Under Control'

(See Earlier Story on Page 2)

By JOHN LEBLANC
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP)—Federal cabinet proposals dealing with the rail-strike crisis should end the threat of a Dec. 1 tieup of the railroads, a cabinet informant said today.

"Everything is under control," he told a Canadian Press reporter.

He declined to detail the cabinet's plan. Earlier, Acting Prime Minister Green had stated that an announcement on the cabinet decision on the combined freight rate-strike problem might be issued later today.

The cabinet after a morning sitting went into another session at 2:30 p.m. EST. (12:30 p.m. MST.) As he entered this meeting, Mr. Green said he did not know how long it would last or when the freight rate announcement might be issued.

Whether or not there will be a rail strike hinges on the cabinet's decision.

IWA Strikes Seven Plants in Interior

VANCOUVER (CP)—Joe Morris, district president of the International Woodworkers of America, announced today the IWA has struck seven plants in the southern interior of B.C. in a wage contract dispute.

Union officials said they expect employers will look out workers before the end of the day at all operations where the union voted to strike.

The plants struck at 8 a.m. PST (9 a.m. MST) were: S. M. Simpson and S. K. Plywood at Kelowna; Boundary Sawmill, Midway; Grand Forks Sawmills, Grand Forks; Celgar Development Company, Castlegar and Nakusp; Kootenay Forest products, Nelson. About 1,000 men are involved.

COULD IDLE 2,000 If the lockout develops, the region's 15 largest plants would be closed and more than 2,000 men made idle.

There are about 3,500 southern interior IWA members. The union voted to strike in most of the large plants but in 16 smaller plants the strike was rejected.

A number of employers claim the strike is illegal because they did not receive notice until Monday morning. Under B.C. law, 48 hours official notice must be given before a strike can take effect.

NOTICES SENT FRIDAY

Strike committee chairman Fred Fieber, however, said notices "went out Friday afternoon by registered mail and were received by the operators Saturday morning."

The IWA is demanding a 15-per-cent wage increase over the present interior base of $1.52. The coast district base is $1.72. The operators have offered two 3 per cent wage increases over two years.

B.C. Liberal Chief Challenges Bonner

VANCOUVER (CP)—George Gregory, Liberal MLA for Victoria, Monday night challenged Attorney General Robert Bonner of B.C. to a public platform discussion on Mr. Bonner's "deception of duty" in the handling of the Sommers bribery-conspiracy case.

Mr. Gregory said in a free-time CBC political broadcast

Mr. Bonner's handling of the case indicated that attorney general had delayed bringing the former minister of lands and forests to justice for an inordinately long time.

He added that Ray Williston, present lands and forests minister, should now review all forest licences issued.

Mr. Gregory said Attorney General Bonner "stands" condemned as a man unfit to hold high office.

During his 15-minute address over station CBU in Vancouver, Mr. Gregory criticized the appointment of Dr. Gordon Shrum, head of the department of physics at the University of British Columbia, as chairman of a royal commission studying the operations of the crown-owned B. C. Power Commission.

PFRA Aid for Waterworks Project Sought Pentiction city council has hopes of getting the city's irrigation system revamped and the domestic water system augmented at a third of the cost.

Big Welcome Set As Packers Return

VANCOUVER—Kelowna Packers arrived in Vancouver at 7:50 a.m. PST this morning ending a three-week hockey tour of Sweden and Russia.

The team was scheduled to leave Vancouver by plane at 1:10 this afternoon, arriving in Kelowna at approximately 2:45 p.m. A reception has been planned for the team upon their arrival in Kelowna. They will be met at the airport by their wives and driven to the city.

They will arrive through the city's main streets on a fire truck. The Kelowna High School Band will lead the parade. The team will be formally welcomed home at a dance in the Canadian Legion Thursday night.

Packers will also be special guests of the Kelowna Board of Trade at their annual Christmas Party Dec. 17.

BROUGHT SOUVENIRS

Upon their arrival in Vancouver, many of the Packers were carrying balalaikas, triangular shaped three-stringed musical instruments. They were "about the only thing worthwhile to bring back," said Packer forward Moe Young. Most of the team also had Russian rubles as souvenirs.

Comments on the Russian style of hockey ranged from "excellent" to "they can be beaten" to "we've got their number."

In the five-game exhibition series, Packers lost the first game, tied the second two and won the last two.

Manager Bob Giordano said, "We really didn't expect to win the first game. We still had the travelling kinks to get out."

"They threw their best players at us right from the start. I don't remember the names of the teams. They didn't matter. They had mostly the same players."

Former hockey great Fred (Cy) Taylor, who made the trip at his own expense to get a look at Russian hockey, said the Russians were "marvelous" puck handlers.

'Grenades' Tossed Into Hockey Game

TORONTO (CP)—The National Hockey League is investigating the tossing of explosive "grenades" in Chicago Stadium.

NHL President Clarence Campbell said in a telephone interview from Montreal that as many as 25 of the small bombs were thrown during the game Sunday between Toronto Maple Leafs and Chicago Black Hawks.

Mr. Campbell said the league has unexploded samples of the grenades.

"We are not certain if they are available on the market or homemade, but they do appear homemade."

PLASTIC-LIKE COVER

The outer shell looks like moulded clay or plastic. It has the appearance of a very cheap marble with a metallic silvery finish. Along with this goes a shaped cardboard like a tray in a grocery store.

"The grenades themselves are only 4 inches in diameter, but they make a loud report like the bakelite type of grenades we used in the last war."

"I don't imagine it would disintegrate as completely as the bakelite grenades, but if it struck a player on the head it would be dangerous."

Valley Artist's Work Admired at Coast Art Gallery

Another flattering honor has been paid Toni Onley, of Pentiction and Summerland.

This noted artist's work is currently being admired in the Vancouver Art Gallery and is the feature of a one-man show which, it is expected, will run for at least a month.

Mr. Onley is now visiting in the Okanagan, after studying with the Institute Allende in Mexico. These studies will be resumed almost immediately.

He will be returning south, in all probability, soon after a forthcoming sale to be given here.

The sale will be held in the Canadian Legion at 7:30 o'clock on the evening of December 4.

To be auctioned at that time will be some 150 paintings done in water-color, plastics, and pastels. These were painted in Mexico and range from representations to abstract compositions, suitable to the varying tastes of the large number of viewers and potential buyers who are expected to patronize this showing and sale.

City Firm Gets Contract for Road Job Near Kelowna

A $120,423 contract has been awarded to C. Drage Trucking of Pentiction for construction of approaches for Ellison overhead crossing work, north of Kelowna, B.C. Highways Minister P. A. Gagnier announced today.

Work is expected to start shortly.

CLIMBS ON BACK OF SWAYING ELEPHANT

Bumpy Ride for Dief

By ALAN DONNELLY
Canadian Press Staff Writer
KANDY, Ceylon (CP)—Prime Minister Diefenbaker had his first elephant ride today—five minutes on the back of a swaying giant.

"I've never ridden anything that moved so much," he said afterwards with a smile.

The visit to the elephants was arranged on the spur of the moment during a luncheon at the Kings Pavilion, an old residence of governors-general.

It was just as well he went then because a monsoon rain washed out much of the afternoon program planned for the Canadian leader.

DROVE TO RIVER The Canadian party drove to the Mahaweli River, where seven elephants were being bathed. As the first elephant came ashore from the river a towel was thrown on his back and Diefen-

The keeper led the elephant across a small bridge and back while others in the party had rides on other elephants. Then the three elephants lined up, bowed to the Canadian premier, lifted their trunks and roared.

Unidentified Jet Bombs Jordan

AMMAN, Jordan (AP)—An unidentified jet plane dropped three bombs over Jordanian territory today and flew off in the direction of Israel, a military spokesman said.

King-Sized Desks Bought for Pupils

VANCOUVER (CP)—School children are so big these days they just can't squeeze into the desks that mum and dad used 25 years ago.

The school board Monday decided to buy 800 king-sized desks for Vancouver secondary schools, at a cost of $16.25 each.

"The students are getting larger," said Ralph Bridge, purchasing agent. "At least it seems to be that way because we are getting more requests from the principals for the extra-large desks."

He said the trend started five years ago and estimated 50 per cent of grade 11 and 12 desks now are extra large.

SERVICES HELD

Funeral services were held this morning in North Vancouver for the late George Barrat, 82, long time Okanagan Valley fruitman.

He died Friday in a Vancouver hospital following a seizure. Considered by many to be the father of the fruit industry in the valley, Mr. Barrat first came to the Okanagan in 1911 and until his retirement four years ago, he was very active in co-operative affairs in the valley.

Cabinet May Decide on Rail Strike Issue Today

By JOHN LEBLANC
Canadian Press Staff Writer
OTTAWA (CP)—Six days away from the deadline for a crippling rail strike, the cabinet comes to grips today with the question of what to do about it.

After a day-and-night session with representatives of the railways and provinces that ended close to midnight Monday night, the ministers were to go into session at 10:30 a.m. EST (8:30 a.m. MST) to make a decision that could spell the difference between a train tieup and no strike.

The decision is whether or not the cabinet will permit a 17-per-cent freight increase authorized last week by the board of transport commissioners.

Barring disallowance by the cabinet, it is due to go into effect Dec. 1, which is the date set for a strike of 130,000 non-operating employees of the major railways.

If it becomes effective that date, the railways are prepared to settle with the 15 unions representing the workers. The unions have agreed to settle on the basis of a 14-cent-an-hour wage increase recommended in the majority report of a federal conciliation board.

Eight provinces are appealing against the freight boost—all except Ontario and Quebec—and they put their case before the cabinet Monday. The railways replied.

After Monday night's session, acting prime minister Green said he is not sure that the cabinet will reach a verdict today.

Nor was he sure whether he would be in touch with Prime Minister Diefenbaker today, he told reporters. Mr. Diefenbaker is in Ceylon and has been reported considering breaking off his world tour and rushing home should a strike appear inevitable.

At Monday's appeal sessions, two provincial premiers made it known to reporters there had been a provincial demand for a temporary federal subsidy to the railways to enable them to meet the financial emergency created by the union demands.

PROVINCES AGREED
Premier Douglas of Saskatchewan said there was "remarkable unanimity" on this point among the eight provinces.

They proposed that the subsidy remain in effect while a committee of experts set up by the central government takes a quick new look at Canada's whole transport set up with a view to permanent action.

The provinces said there could be suggestions later for long-railways, particularly to enable term government help to the railways, particularly to enable them to meet what the railways described a losses on the low Crownsnest Pass freight rates in their world tour and rushing home should a strike appear inevitable.

CBC Extends Radio Service to North

By BERNARD DUFRESNE
Canadian Press Staff Writer
OTTAWA (CP)—The CBC is acquiring radio stations in the North to extend its broadcasting service to Canada's northern population.

This will mean volunteer broadcasts in Dawson City, Yukon, can scrap their recordings of wartime Bob Hope shows, some of which have been played 15 or 20 times. From now on they'd be getting new programs on tape.

And listeners in Whitehorse in the southern Yukon soon will be Radio Network programs as those heard in southern Canada, Shos heard in southern Canada, and at the same time.

BANISH MOSCOW MOLLY
The service may end recent talk about the northern listener-ship of "Moscow Molly" — a nightly program of music and carefully slanted news from Russia directed to North America. It can be picked up on any short wave radio set. Five or six men and women announcers take part.

Many northern residents, including some of the 16,000 Indians and Eskimos, have receivers. Due to quicks in atmospheric conditions, in some cases they can tune in to shortwave broadcasts from Moscow more easily than from elsewhere.

Canada has no shortwave broadcasting to the Arctic, but CBC officials are doing preliminary planning on the construction of such a transmitter at Vancouver, which may cost $1,000,000.

SPECIAL FUNDS
Meanwhile, the CBC has set up a northern service, with a special appropriation of $391,000 this year, to start services in nine northern localities.

The entire 1,500,000 square miles of Canada's north will not be served at once by the low-power stations. For the present, the publicly-owned corporation is concentrating its efforts mainly in the western Arctic where the majority of the northern population lives.

It has assumed control of stations in Whitehorse and Dawson in the Yukon and on Dec. 14 is scheduled to take over a third outlet at Yellowknife, N.W.T.

Two 40-watt relay transmitters are to be installed at Watson Lake, in the southern Yukon, and at Fort Nelson, in northern British Columbia.

FOUR MORE
Four other stations are due to be taken over by the CBC: at Fort Smith, on the N.W.T.-Alberta border; Hay River, on the south shore of Great Slave Lake; Inuvik, the new Alavik townsite on the Mackenzie River delta; and Goose Bay, Labrador.

The existing stations are operated by local volunteers with equipment supplied by the armed forces and the transport department. Some of the equipment dates from the Second World War and must be replaced.

Within a year, the CBC hopes to link Fort Nelson, Watson Lake and Whitehorse, and possibly Dawson, to the Trans-Canada Network. The first three towns are on the Alaska Highway, along which there is a telegraph line that can be used to transmit voice broadcasting.

The CBC has asked the Canadian National Telegraphs to make certain changes that would permit undistorted musical transmissions on the line.

50 HOURS WEEKLY
Stations that become part of the CBC system will get about 50 hours a week of taped program recordings, delivered by plane for rebroadcasting about a week after the original broadcast.

The Whitehorse station, already on the Trans-Canada Network for three daily news broadcasts, will be hooked up to the Grey Cup game in Vancouver next Saturday.

A drive to serve the Arctic follows a recommendation of the Fowler Royal commission on broadcasting that special funds outside the normal CBC budget be made available to implement plans for shortwave transmissions to the low-power stations in the North.

Personnel Changes In Forest Districts Listed by Minister

VICTORIA (CP) — Personnel changes in all five B.C. forest districts have been announced by Lands and Forests Minister Ray Williston.

The changes also involve the protection division in Victoria and the forest ranger school.

In April, Ian T. Cameron, forester in charge of the forest protection division here, will move to Vancouver as district forester, replacing Douglas B. Taylor, who is retiring.

Mr. Cameron will be replaced by Harry B. Forse, Nelson district forester since 1947.

W. C. (Cy) Phillips, 45, district forester at Prince George for six years, will move to the same job at Kamloops.

Percy Young, Prince Rupert district forester since 1952, will move to the same job in Nelson.

Allan H. Dixon, forester in charge of the ranger school at New Westminster, will take over Mr. Phillips' job at Prince George.

No Plans to Cut Out School Zones

Reports that Penticton city council was planning to have the present 15 mph school zones on Main Street removed and the speed limit increased to 30 mph, prompted Sgt. E. H. Nesbitt, officer in charge of Penticton Detachment RCMP, to appear at city council's weekly meeting last night to register his strong objection to any such action.

Council, however, denied having such plans though the matter was discussed over a year ago. City traffic superintendent Walt Cousins then spoke up in favor of eliminating the school zones, contending that Penticton's Main Street was the only provincial zones.

Canadians Examine Their Score Against UN Declaration of Rights

By CAROLYN WILLET
Canadian Press Staff Writer
OTTAWA (CP)—Canadians are conducting a voluntary stocktaking to measure how Canada stands up to the aspirations spelled out in the United Nations universal declaration of human rights.

The first of five Canadian conferences in connection with the 10th anniversary of the declaration's adoption was held last weekend in Winnipeg.

The two-day Winnipeg meeting already has stirred thought about whether Canadian communities measure up to the universal declaration.

The finger was pointed at Canada by Dr. H. L. Keenleyside, Canadian director-general of the UN technical assistance administration, who said racial discrimination is practiced constantly in Canadian social and business activities.

Discrimination also will be discussed at anniversary conferences in Halifax Dec. 1; Vancouver Dec. 5 and 6; Montreal Dec. 13; and at the National Human Rights Conference in Ottawa Dec. 8 to 10.

A federal bill of rights introduced in the Commons Sept. 5 by Prime Minister Diefenbaker also is a conference topic.

The bill, set over until the next session of Parliament, declares that any act of parliament, cabinet order or regulation now in effect or to be passed in future years may not infringe on human rights and fundamental freedoms.

Officials of Canada's human rights anniversary committee stress the national and regional conferences are concentrating on the Canadian situation. They are not sessions for looking at someone else's housekeeping.

Generally, they set forth four kinds of rights—personal, economic, political and social, and the all-embracing rights such as freedom of opinion and expression, the right to education and the right to equal opportunity in all areas of life "without distinction of any kind, such as race, color, or other opinion, national or social origin, property, birth or other status."

ANSWER: IT REALLY DOESN'T MATTER. Since all reading of newspaper ads is voluntary, long copy need not be read unless a person wishes. Hence, there is no resentment against the ad—as there is apt to be in other media. Therefore, in the newspaper an advertiser can tell a complete product story, using long or short copy to suit his needs. No wonder so many advertisers use the daily newspaper—it's the answer to their needs!

HONOR CLUB STUDENTS AT PRINCESS MARGARET SCHOOL

Students at Princess Margaret School who received Honor Club recognition at an assembly yesterday afternoon for their above-average academic achievements on the basis of first-term reports, are seen here following the assembly. The teaching staff hopes this recognition will serve as an incentive to the better students to do the type of work of which they are capable. Those who attain honor club recognition three times in the year will be

Peach Festival Out of Red; Can Start to "Go Places" Now

Penticton's Peach Festival is out of the red and has possibilities of "really going ahead now," city council was told last night. E. H. Cotton, Peach Festival president, submitted the association's report on 1958 operations noting that although net profit was not as high as the previous year, the 1958 festival was very successful considering a number of adverse circumstances including the absence of gas pipeline workers and the smaller volume of tourists.

Council agreed that the financial statement was most gratifying especially since only $500 remains of the $14,000 deficit which was incurred several years ago, and this is offset by a cash balance and accounts receivable totalling $615.

COMMUNITY EFFORT
Mr. Cotton said the festival can start to grow now if citizens realize that it is a community effort staged to publicize Penticton for the benefit of all its citizens. Public apathy has been particularly noticeable at annual meetings. Mr. Cotton said, expressing the hope that this year things will be different.

The financial statement for the year showed an excess of expenditure over revenue amounting to $1,891.57 out of which the deficit of $1,695.86 at Oct. 31, 1957, is now reduced to $500.

Total revenue was $9,183.30 with expenses amounting to $7,291.73.

Biggest revenue item was $2,652.84 turned over to the Peach Festival from the Rotary Industrial Exhibition, closely followed by $2,640.44 from the midway.

DANCE BIG BOOSTERS
Mr. Cotton noted that the square dancers were again among the city's biggest boosters as well as big money makers, turning over $1,383.99 to the association after receipts of $3,550.32 and expenses of $2,166.33.

The car-raffle staged by the Jaycees netted the association $1,044.91 and the regular $1,000 grant was received from the city.

Other net revenue items were $247.71 from car parking, $192.57 from the Peach Festival program; $5.54 from the queen's ball and $15, miscellaneous.

On the expenditure side was a deficit of $2,015.14 for the variety stage show where revenue of $2,039.79 was offset by $4,054.93 in expenses including $3,200 for the entertainers.

Also showing a deficit was the agricultural and horticultural exhibition where total revenues of $286.90 and expenditures of $1,104.81 resulted in an excess of expenditure over revenue of $817.91.

Administration expenditures totalled $1,487.47 and net cost of the parade came to $1,030.46.

Other expenditures were: queen's coronation, $185.61; entertainment schedule, $114.58; publicity, $904.04; queen's promotion, $564.52; and parade float, $172.47.

TALK OF THE VALLEY

THE POWERFUL VOTER

Penticton city council last night listened attentively to a letter from Mrs. Roberta Radau, 929 Creston Avenue, protesting against the $1 increase in licence fees for male dogs which is to take effect Jan. 1, and also voicing objection to the expected increase in policing costs to the municipality. Council chambers resounded with hearty chuckles when Mrs. Radau's final remark was read. "Please don't treat this letter with ridicule because the election is only a few weeks away, she warned."

CHANGE OF NAME

We heard it this morning. Seems that a various publicity boosters of B.C. are thinking of changing our well-known slogan "The Evergreen Playground" to "The Ever Gien Playground."

NEW PARK PLANNED

Members of the Eagle Valley Rod and Gun club were glad to learn that the parks board intends to set aside at least 2,000 acres of land on the Quest mountain range for a recreation park. This area includes two lakes recently stocked with Kamloops trout. Present forestry roads will be rebuilt into the area and picnic areas created in good camping spots.

The money raised by the sale of Christmas Seals provided mobile X-ray units, helped to equip health units and research and helped to build an addition to the Vancouver Preventorium (or Princess Margaret's Children's Village) where tuberculosis children from all parts of B.C. are treated.

Special services at the Seventh-day Adventist Church in Penticton last Sunday afternoon marked the opening of the new Community Welfare Centre building which has just been completed on the church property, corner Fairview Road and Douglas Avenue.

Students Make Good History Salesmen

Local students rate high with city council these days for their salesmanship aptitudes. Students at Penticton High School and Princess Margaret School recently undertook to help the city dispose of the large stock of Penticton historical books remaining unsold.

So far over 500 of the books have been sold by the students, city council learned last night. There are still about 450 books in council chambers, remaining to be sold.

For their efforts, the student salesmen receive the regular commission of 50 cents per book out of the retail price of $2 plus tax.

Christmas Seals are now on sale throughout British Columbia to raise funds for the fight against tuberculosis.

Jaywalking Vote For Main St. Only

Pros and cons of a ban on jaywalking in downtown Penticton were debated briefly at city council meeting last night.

"I'm not wholeheartedly in favor of an anti-jaywalking bylaw," remarked Ald. Elsie MacCleave. "I think the police have far more pressing duties than pinching jaywalkers."

Delegates were present representing Adventist Welfare Centres at Oliver, Kelowna, Winfield, Vernon, Armstrong, Salmon Arm and Revelstoke.

PREPAREDNESS THEME
Sunday morning at the Okanagan Federation of Dorcas Welfare Societies was held with Mrs. Betty Streifling of Vernon, president, and Mrs. Amy Wagner of Rutland, secretary. Progress reports from each Okanagan centre were presented. Plans were laid for the strengthening of the welfare program, stressing the necessity of preparedness for disaster in participation in local community Civil Defence activities.

The new Community Welfare Centre in Penticton is one of 34 established centres throughout the province. Last year these units gave assistance to over 20,000 needy persons with 65,000 articles of clothing and food at an estimated value of $200,000.

Meeting to Learn Status of "Home"

SUMMERLAND — The proposed senior citizen's home will be one of the subjects discussed at the annual ratepayers' meeting to be held on Wednesday evening in the high school auditorium. It is hoped that all who are interested in seeing the home progress will attend the meeting and take part in the discussion.

No word has been received from Ottawa as to any change in the National Housing regulations regarding the type of building to be erected to some other means of financing will be planned, E.H. Bennett, chairman of the housing committee reports.

It is some two and a half years since the home was first brought to the fore. Land was purchased at West Summerland adjoining the Memorial Park Playground. The site has been cleared and is ready for construction. Since the time the council hoped to have some favorable way of financing through NHA.

Plans were drawn up by Roy Melkjohn, Penticton architect.

Funeral Held for Mary Jane Mather
Funeral services were held from St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church during the weekend. Rev. Ralph Kendall officiating, for Mrs. Mary Jane Mather who died Nov. 18.

Soloist was Mrs. Helene Scott. Mrs. Mary Jane Mather who died daughters, Mrs. Janet Duncan, Mrs. Hazel Crenney, Mrs. Mildred Cramer, and Mrs. Pearl Howard all of Penticton, and Mrs. Ruby Gregory of Everett, Wash.

Funeral services at the funeral were Everett Craig, Robert Hayhurst, Alfred Duncan, Leslie Duncan, Ron Dean and Ralph Johnson.

Company Honors Insurance Man

J. Pickering of Penticton, local field representative for Mutual of New York, has qualified for the National Field Club, a company honor group, it was announced today by John R. Holliday, Vancouver agency manager.

Membership is based on high standards of production and service of life and accident and sickness insurance.

During the year, approximately one-third of MONY's field force will earn membership in the National Field Club. Mr. Pickering attained his distinction in two-thirds of the time allotted.

Bylaw Proposes Exam Board for City Plumbers

Given first three readings by Penticton city council last night, was a bylaw authorizing the setting up of a board of examiners for plumbers in the city, as recently urged by some of the community's leading plumbers.

The board, which will decide whether a plumber is qualified to practice his trade in the city, will comprise the city plumbing inspector as chairman, one journeyman plumber and two plumbing contractors appointed by city council.

All plumbing contractors and journeymen plumbers in the city must hold a certificate of registration from the examining board certifying that they are qualified for their work. The certificates will be obtained after candidates have passed an examination, both written and oral, on their craftsmanship.

The bylaw will become effective when it has received final reading from council, probably next Monday night.

The B.C. Tuberculosis Society count on the sale of the Christmas Seal and use over the holiday season to support a year-round program of research, public education and free chest X-ray services.

Racketeers Noted Among Transients

A resolution qualifying the local RCMP office for provincial government contributions of 90 per cent towards welfare payments distributed by the detachment drew objections from Ald. P. F. Erout at city council meeting last night.

The resolution formally authorizes the RCMP to provide transient assistance during hours when the city's social welfare office is closed. Heretofore the money distributed by the police to transients came from the Central Welfare Committee but the demand for assistance has grown to the extent where this fund is no longer sufficient, Ald. Elsie MacCleave explained.

RESOLUTION REQUESTED
The resolution was requested of council by the regional director of welfare so that the welfare funds disbursed by the police could qualify for the provincial 90 per cent contribution.

Ald. Erout contended that some way should be found to keep payment of money to transients under one authority, otherwise many of the recipients make a racket out of the matter by getting handouts from each of the distributing authorities at the same time.

Decision on Death Penalty

The question of retaining or abolishing the death penalty for a convicted murderer in Canada has been the subject of controversy for many years. Those who favor execution base their arguments largely on the belief that the penalty is a deterrent to would-be slayers. Opponents say that in states or countries where the penalty has been abolished there has been no significant increase in murder. In fact, some figures indicate a drop.

Arguments for and against are based on many grounds. There are those who stress the humanitarian angle. They do not believe in taking a life for a life. Others point to the inconclusive evidence of execution as a deterrent and advocate efforts to rehabilitate the criminal. Many others, among them eminent officers of the law, say it would be a grave mistake to change the present statute in Canada.

The latest to enter the lists is Patrick Nicholson, Ottawa correspondent of the Herald. Mr. Nicholson points to the fact that the government has commuted the death sentences of the majority of men and women who have been convicted of murder in recent months.

Mr. Nicholson suggests that if our government does not like the law, it should adopt the "honorable and democratic course" of attempting to persuade Parliament to change it, and it should respect and implement the existing law until that is done.

One of the chief criticisms of the present law is its narrow scope. If a man is convicted of murder, there is only one penalty—death by hanging. He may be fortunate enough to have his charge reduced to manslaughter and find himself serving a jail term. But if the murder charge is upheld then the presiding judge must sentence the prisoner to death.

The government has stepped in in most cases in recent months to commute the death penalty to life imprisonment. Obviously, it does not like the present law. Its course, then, as Mr. Nicholson suggests, is to bring amendments before Parliament. There will be vigorous protests; this is a foregone conclusion. But the government will be meeting the issue head-on at the front door.

Trade Within Commonwealth

There is one paragraph in the final communiqué issued from the Commonwealth Economic Conference held in Montreal, having to do with assisting undeveloped countries that is sufficiently important to Canadians, that it warrants reiteration. It reads: "One important way in which help can be afforded to the undeveloped countries is to provide opportunities for them to expand their trade on a stable basis, thereby increasing their export earnings and improving their prospects of attracting external capital."

This could be interpreted as saying the best way to help these countries is to help them to help themselves, but it must also mean, if it means anything, that those who are extending the help will provide opportunities for the undeveloped countries to expand their trade by exporting. If they are to export, there must be markets, and their goods are not to be discriminated against by tariff barriers.

Without pointing the finger at any particular industry in Canada or the evident desire to maintain a market within this country in which competition from imports will be safeguarded by higher protection, an article in The Canadian Commentator by Margaret R. Prentiss, has bearing on the clamor for more restrictions on imports. The article in question entitled, "The Truth About Tariffs," reads:

"The plea for tariff protection, in company with other well-known phenomena, is always with us, only sometimes more so. A little recession acts like a shot in the arm to protectionists, which includes labor tycoons as well as the ordinary kind. Indeed, the current argument in favor of tariffs (and especially of increasing them) meets with the approval of both labor and capital. Canada's enviably high standard of living, the argument runs, is a product of her high wage-level; low-wage imports therefore threaten the Canadian standard of living. To the barricades!

"All this, of course, is arrant nonsense. The high standard of living is not a product of high wages; the factors which make high wages possible are the factors which provide the high standard of living. High wages are merely the monetary expression of the standard of living, they both depend on the natural advantages enjoyed by the people who live in this country. Those include abundant natural resources such as cheap power, ready availability of large-scale investment capital, and the favorable pattern of national development whereby population and other productive resources can move together into the economically most advantageous locations and uses.

"This being so, evidently inefficient use of resources is the real threat to the Canadian standard of living. The cost of making anything is at its lowest when the combination of productive resources (such as land, labor, capital and managerial skill) is at its most profitable. When labor is scarce and therefore dear, relative to capital or land, then the most profitable use of resources lies in using more of the relatively cheap factors. This is the case in Canada, where capital investment per worker is almost the highest in the world. Where labor is plentiful and therefore the relatively cheap factor, as in India, the most profitable use of resources is in the labor-intensive industries where capital per worker is low. The raising of obstacles to the movement of resources into their most efficient uses is obviously one certain method of keeping the standard of living below the level it would reach in conditions of freedom. Tariffs are an excellent means of achieving this doubtful end.

"The economic malformations arising from the use of tariffs are admirably reviewed by J. H. Young in his recently-published study made for the Gordon Commission, "Canadian Commercial Policy." Mr. Young also takes the opportunity to examine many other "economic" arguments in favor of tariffs, all of which have been in their time espoused by protectionists, and all of which are very competently demolished in these pages. This suggests that the protectionist who argues on economic grounds is either a knave because he does not believe what he says or a fool (because he does). But this may be a little harsh. The moral of it all may simply be that in an age of specialization the protectionist should tend to his knitting and leave economics to the economists.

"The truth about tariffs, as revealed by Mr. Young, is that in the year 1956 they probably cost the Canadian people one billion dollars. In other words, without tariffs this country could probably have enjoyed an extra billion dollars of consumption without the expenditure of one extra unit of resources. Which, as Runyon said, is nice potatoes.

"Tariffs may be desirable on social grounds. There may be a need to develop certain kinds of industry for reasons of international prestige. The demands of internal as well as external politics may call for the use of tariffs as a weapon. Tariffs are a part of Canada's future; this forecaster's crystal ball reveals that they are likely to be an unconscionable time a-dying. So be it.

"Protection if necessary—but don't dress it up in half-baked economic theory about wages or anything else. Tariffs are a political choice, and the choice lies in the hands of the Canadian people. But let none be misled as to the economic cost of their decision."

Cheap Rates for European Tours

treasury.

The proposed plans are causing independent airlines and public.

LONDON — Canadian tourists who visit the continent of Europe on conducted all-expense tours next summer will find rates a great deal lower than they have been up to the present. A cheap-holiday war has broken out between Britain's independent airlines and the British European Airways.

Because of this rate war, holiday-makers are likely to be offered continental holidays by air at rates which, for an all-inclusive tour, will be only a few shillings more than the tourist return air fares now in effect. This is to be made possible by an arrangement between the BEA and the holiday resort hotels on the continent.

The reason for bringing the hotels into the picture is that because of the LATA regulations, the BEA is not allowed to cut fares for inclusive tour passengers by more than 16 percent. On charter flights, however, the fares are not under control.

BEA accountants and salesmen have worked out a scheme whereby continental resort hotels would agree to take plane-loads of tourists at about half their present rates. The hotels would be reimbursed from the 16 percent difference between normal tourist rates and the all-inclusive tour rates. The result, for the tourist, would be an all-inclusive tour at much lower cost than has been possible up to the present time. BEA hopes that it will stimulate patronage for these tours, which last season brought something like £1,700,000 into the company's

Sir:

In a recent issue you describe the "truly amazing" results of fluoridation of drinking water in the city of Philadelphia. If fluoridation is such an unmixt blessing, then, I should like to ask, why is it that 102 cities which had put fluoride in their water had stopped when they learned the truth about fluoridation. This meant the scrapping of expensive machinery which had been purchased. I have actual photographs of badly corroded and burst water pipes from Lewiston, Idaho (fluoridated, but threw it out June 4, 1956). The corrosion tested 502 and 461 parts per million respectively. They had had no trouble with corrosion prior to fluoridation. Even at 1 p.p.m. sodium fluoride is within the toxic range, so such a concentration is lethal and an ever-present hazard with any upsurge in water pressure. Possible the pros would say "Ah, well, he died with perfect teeth!" You state that Philadelphia, which is the third largest city, small operators to howl to high heaven against this attempt to raid their business. All-inclusive tours accounted for more than three-quarters of the business of these firms last year.

But the BEA believes that a whole new class of passengers may be attracted to air travel, in an effort to beat the slump from which world airlines have suffered this year. And if the scheme goes into operation next year, as is expected, the greatest beneficiary will be the travelling

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Water Lines Not Vehicle for Drugs

has fluoridated its water but you did not mention that New York, which is the largest city on the continent, has refused to do so. Among the reasons are: "Fluoride, besides being a toxic substance, is not all excreted when taken into the system, a significant percentage remaining cumulatively. Fluoridation of the drinking water at any level of concentration is a very indiscriminate procedure since children drink widely varying amounts of water, each according to taste, physical activity and seasonal variations of the year. The daily intake of one child often differs greatly from that of another who may drink milk, fruit juices and soft drinks in abundance."

In an article in "Toronto Globe and Mail," in the University of Toronto Dentistry Faculty, speaking about the Brantford experiment in fluoridated water said that even in Brantford, where the study is under the best control, dentists have confessed the baseline figures being used must be considered invalid because the original examinations were inadequate. He added that recent statistics from Brantford seem to show that there has been an increase in tooth decay in those drinking water to which fluorides are being added. In a letter to Dr. Hutton, Director of the Health Unit at Brantford I asked him if the children who were being used in this experiment had been checked for symptoms of fluorosis (fluorine poisoning). In his reply he ignored my question completely.

Miami, Fla., has been fluoridated since June, 1952. An article which appeared in the "Miami, Fla. Herald" in 1957, states: "Dentists are now concerned about the worsening condition of children's teeth." Some dentists go so far as to say: "It almost seems as if teeth are getting bad sooner than they used to."

The U.S.A. Public Health Service admits that from 30 to 20 per cent of the children drinking fluoridated water will develop "mottled teeth," that is teeth having unsightly brown patches. These ugly teeth are the outward sign of the inward disease, I have reproductions of photographs of such teeth. These reproductions were taken from photographs in the official Public Health Service publications. It is interesting to note that the mottled teeth occurred in children who had been drinking water containing less than one part per million (recommended dosage) sodium fluoride.

In conclusion: Fluoridation is compulsory as a medication without precedent and as such has been declared illegal by the Supreme Courts of the provinces of Ontario and New Brunswick. The function of a public supply system is to provide pure, safe water, and not to serve as a vehicle for drugs.

Yours truly,

OTTAWA REPORT

'Fifth Column' in U.S. Civil Service

By PATRICK NICHOLSON

An interesting parallel has been pointed out between our country and our southern neighbor, where President Eisenhower and his Republican followers in the "Grand Old Party" were handed such a severe rebuff by the voters at this month's elections.

"Rout of G.O.P. cheers most federal employees," pronounced a big black headline in the influential Chicago "Daily Tribune," over a story relating Washington's reaction to the electoral triumph of the Democratic Party. "While it may come as a surprise to the rest of the nation, the faces of most federal workers—high and low—as a result of the rout suffered by the Republican Party at the polls," said the Tribune. "Most federal officials and workers had a hard time concealing their jubilation with the election results. This is because the bulk of the 225,000 federal employees in the capital owe their jobs to the Democrats. Supporters have been enthroned in policy-making posts in government departments. Many of these have been working underground for the Democrats."

This clipping came to me from Gene Griffin, the Chicago Tribune's triple prize-winning foreign correspondent, who has been reporting Canadian news for his paper over the past twelve years. He had read my recent column, describing the difficulties of our present government in its relationships with the civil servants who display an improper political bias against their masters. So he sent me the clipping, with his note attached saying: "The situation of Democratic civil service terminates undermining the Republican administration in Washington may have a parallel in Ottawa."

The parallel is very close indeed. In both countries, the civil service was largely recruited and indoctrinated during two decades of uninterrupted rule by one party; in both countries, the other party is now in office; in both countries, the present administration, duly elected by a substantial majority of the voters, is having its policies frustrated by a "Fifth Column" within the civil service, which is working—entirely improperly—for the overthrow of the administration. "A prominent Republican recently confided that many policy workers in the government are doing their best to derail the administration," continued the Tribune. "It is known that some government employees are reporting to the Democratic National Committee."

"In their 20 years in power, the Democrats had put almost 2,500, 000 persons on the federal payroll. Virtually every one of these were deserving Democrats. These Democrat supporters were most careful not to commit overt acts which might cut them off the payroll. They were able to speed or slow operations. And they were able to influence policy because they supplied data on which policy was built."

"Many of these considered themselves contributors to the Democratic victory last Tuesday, which is why they were unable to hide their joy."

In a democratic country like Canada or U.S., civil servants are the employees of the taxpayers. They are hired to assist the government—to put its policies into effect. Civil servants should make themselves the unquestioning servants of the government, impartial, obedient and conscientious. Civil servants should never so conduct themselves that they can, as now in Washington, "consider themselves contributors" to any party's electoral victory.

As in Washington, 90 per cent of the civil service was put on the taxpayers' payroll by a government—the former Liberal administration—which was in power for two decades. It picked especially for the top jobs people who shared its own ideas or who would absorb its Liberal policies. These persons are now able, like their opposite numbers in Washington, to "speed or slow operations and to influence policy," and that is just what they are doing here.

The Chicago Tribune asserts that many civil servants in Washington are working underground for the Democrats and against the Republican administration. Without naming names, I can assure that some senior civil servants—and their juniors whom they influence—are now in Ottawa improperly drawing their salaries from the taxpayers, when they should more appropriately be on the payroll of the masters for whom they are clandestinely working, namely the Liberal Party.

Pets Unlikely to Give Family TB

BY HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

Can pets transmit diseases such as tuberculosis?

Well, they can, but often the pet is in greater danger of catching the disease from you than you are in getting it from the animal. In fact, even elephants are known to have died from TB infected by the human strain.

OFTEN GET TB
And, according to a recent issue of "The American Review of Tuberculosis and Pulmonary Diseases," animals kept in zoos frequently become infected with tuberculosis.

As far as pets go, TB in dogs is pretty rare in the United States. It does exist, however, in some parts of the world. When dogs do become infected with TB, the human strain of bacillus is more often to blame than is the bovine strain.

Cats, on the other hand, may become infected by drinking milk of tuberculous cows, but they appear to be very resistant to human tuberculosis.

DANGER OF PHTHACONIS
Both canaries and parrots can catch TB, but, of course, the real danger from parrots, as far as their owners are concerned, is phthacosis, a virus infection somewhat similar to influenza.

While canaries are more susceptible to the avian strain of tubercle bacilli, parrots generally are infected by the animal strain.

Monkeys seem to be the most susceptible of all animals when in captivity. In their native habitats, however, they apparently never contract TB.

RARELY HAVE IT
Laboratory animals such as rabbits, mice and guinea pigs might make good pets since they very rarely have tuberculosis.

But foxes and minks are quite susceptible to bovine infection when they are raised on fur farms. Naturally, this doesn't mean that you can catch TB simply by wearing a fur coat.

While some diseases, even TB, can be transmitted by pets, you really don't have to worry about it in the light of our knowledge as to how these diseases are controlled.

QUESTION AND ANSWER
A.K.: My seven-month-old grandson has what the physician terms "bronchiolitis." He said nothing can be done to help this condition. Is this true?

Could there possibly be any connection between this ailment of the baby's and smoking on the part of the mother when pregnant?

Answer: Bronchiolitis refers to inflammation of the very small bronchial tubes called "bronchioles." It may be due to infection, allergy or an asthma-like type, or may be part of some general disease. In most cases, much can be done to help this condition.

Smoking by the mother during her pregnancy probably has no relationship to this disease.

Clothing Collected For Central Mission

SUMMERLAND — Summerland United Church Women's Federation plans to send good used men's clothing to the Central Mission in Vancouver as a result of a letter received from Charles H. Daly, son of a former minister here. Mr. Daly wrote to Mrs. T. B. Young and the letter was passed on to the federation secretary, Mrs. S. A. MacDonald, who read it at the November meeting. Mr. Daly said that the mission is supplying 340 breakfasts, 430 dinners and 265 beds daily and many men had to be turned away. Clothing is badly needed at once, he said. A box has been placed inside the door of the church hall to receive donations.

Mrs. Melvin Pollock was the hostess who welcomed guests and visitors to the meeting. Mrs. Jack Dunsdon, president, asked for the favorite hymn of Mrs. A. D. Glen to be sung, since Mrs. Glen is a shut-in member at present. Mrs. T. W. Boothe, Mrs. H. Milley and Mrs. L. E. Bancroft led the devotional service. Mrs. A. McLachlan reported on cards sent and visits paid to hospital patients.

In reports Mrs. W. F. Ward told of a parcel sent recently to Korea and Mrs. H. B. Mair spoke of another parcel sent to the same country.

Three colorful quilts were displayed, the work of Mrs. T. McCarthy, and Mrs. Pollock assisted by Mrs. Edgar Gould and Mrs. R. S. Chapman. They are to be sent to the Girls' Home in Burnaby.

LET'S EAT

Nutritional Value In Peanut Butter

Peanut butter first appeared on the horizon early in the century, but it took years for its full value as a major food to be recognized.

It is a less expensive protein than meat; its fat content makes it a natural spread low in cholesterol. In addition, it supplies niacin, riboflavin, calcium, phosphorus and iron. It contains no waste. Ounce for ounce, no other food offers greater nutritional or economic value.

LARGE CROP

This year's peanut crop is large, according to the Alabama Peanut Council. More than half will be used in making peanut butter.

With what other foods can it be combined to furnish bulk and by its enticing flavor persuade the family in general, and children in particular, to enjoy foods often half-heartedly eaten or refused?

The Chef and I studied this problem in the test kitchen. Here are a few of the discoveries we made.

WITH HOT CEREALS

Hot cereals are more satisfying and nourishing when peanut butter is blended in while cooking. Use about 1/2 tsp. to a serving, combined with a little hot water or milk.

Blend peanut butter with a little warm water and add when heating canned soup such as tomato, onion, split pea or frozen potato soup.

Use equal parts of peanut butter and grated cheese when preparing macaroni and cheese.

Blend 1/2 c. peanut butter into any standard meat loaf mixture or add to herb-crumbs stuffing for poultry, tomatoes, green peppers or acorn squash.

Serve boiled onions, quick-cooked cabbage, flaky boiled potatoes or green beans with peanut butter cream sauce.

Use half as much peanut butter as shortening in biscuit crusts for meat pies and apple pandowdy.

For lagging appetites, try hot toasted peanut butter sandwiches with crisp bacon for breakfast.

For the children, blend peanut butter with milk and honey and spoon over banana sandwiches. This dish makes a balanced meal.

She's helping to write our Bank Statement...

and lending money to Build Houses...

JUST fifty cents a week...yet the regular deposit of this young lady at one of our school wickets makes her a "valued customer" of "MY BANK".

She's one of more than two million Canadians saving at the B of M. Their deposits run into the billions. To be exact, this year-end - October 31st - total deposits amount to $9,038,349,536.

But her part in the B of M's "total deposits" is only half the picture.

What's happening to her deposit?

Well, along with the deposits of the other two million, her money is being lent to build houses, buy tractors, cut lumber - to do a thousand and one things.

How?

Through hundreds of thousands of bank loans, the B of M is employing this youngster's deposits, with many others, to finance the operations of business and industrial enterprises of all kinds and sizes...of farmers, fishermen, oil-men, miners, lumbermen and ranchers...of citizens of every calling...of provincial and municipal governments and school districts. Total B of M loans now run to no less than $1,416,518,876.

Yes, when you save your money at the B of M you not only keep it safe and earning interest for you, but you make a sound investment for yourself in Canada's growth now and in the years ahead.

What's more - whether you want to save money or borrow it - you'll like banking at the B of M. Why not drop in next time you're passing?

PETER TOMLIN'S SPORTS DIARY

KELOWNA PACKERS ARRIVED in Vancouver early today from Amsterdam, winding up a three-week tour of Sweden and Russia.

The Packers arrived by plane via the polar route and were scheduled to continue on to Kelowna by air at 1:10 this afternoon.

A monster welcome awaits the Packers when they reach Kelowna. It is expected that many thousands will turn out to greet them.

Packers, contrary to many predictions, did not fall flat on their faces on the tour.

In Sweden they lost their first game, which was played almost as soon as they stepped off the plane after a long, tiring trip, then beat the Swedes twice.

In Russia, they got two wins and two ties in five games against assorted Russian teams.

THEY WERE BEATEN 4-3 in their first game, tied the next two by 2-2 and 1-1 counts, beat a strengthened junior team 4-3 and concluded by trouncing the Moscow all-stars 5-1 in the finale.

All told they scored 15 goals in Russia compared to only 11 for the Moscow clubs.

Their showing was, in our humble opinion, an overwhelming victory for them and Canada.

Members of the team and everyone connected with its operation can take a bow for their efforts.

Congratulations and thanks, Packers! You did a wonderful job over there and we are proud of you.

PENTICTON V'S PRESIDENT Tony Biollo announced this morning that the club has decided to change the starting time of Friday night games.

Tony said in a prepared statement, "Owing to a big drop in attendance at Friday night hockey games, we are moving game time on Friday night only from 8:30 to 9:00 p.m."

"It is hoped that, by moving the game back a half-hour, we will pick up attendance lost through Friday night store opening. Quite a number of store keepers, clerks and shoppers, who are good hockey fans, have been unable to attend games this year."

"They have signified that they would attend games if the starting time was moved to 9 o'clock."

"The executive have given the problem a great deal of consideration and have listened to many comments both for and against 9 o'clock starting."

"WE HAVE DECIDED to try 9 o'clock games on Friday nights until the first of the year."

"We know that this will inconvenience some fans, but we hope that they will bear with us and continue to give us their support."

"We have a new team and we are seeing some good, clean, fast hockey. It is, in fact, some of the finest amateur hockey in Canada."

"Let's all get behind the team and give them the support they deserve."

A COUPLE OF WESTERN International League clubs have followed the Penticton V's economy plan.

Nelson Maple Leafs and Trail Smokeeaters have announced that they will play with only 12 men, the same number as Penticton decided to keep.

The clubs hope the move will help them to overcome the problem of high payrolls and sagging attendance.

JIM SHIRLEY, STALWART netminder with Kamloops Chiefs last season, is now stopping pucks for Johnstown of the Eastern Hockey League.

Ken Coombs, who tried out for a spot with the V's, is also on the Johnstown roster.

Coach of the club is Steve Brklacich, a hard-hitting defence man with Vancouver Canucks a few years back.

PLACE 13 PLAYERS

Sarnia Dominates ORFU All-Stars

TORONTO (CP) — Frank Filchuck, newly-appointed backfield coach of Calgary Stampede, may be haunted in 1959 by some of the players he helped into all-star rating this year.

Announcement of The Canadian Press Ontario Rugby Football Union all-star team Monday night showed that three from the league champion Sarnia Golden Bears have been ticketed for delivery to the British Columbia provincial football union. Filchuck coached the Bears this season to the club's first union championship in seven years.

The selectors—sports writers, coaches and sportsmen in the league cities—chose eight Golden Bears for the offensive team and five for the defensive squad. Of that imposing list, the Lions have options on three of them—halfback Chuck Stanley, tackle Gerry Sturm and defensive end Ewart Harkin.

Filchuck may have some consolation, Jim Smith, the ORFU's leading scorer with 84 points on 34 touchdowns and a big power in the Bear's title drive, is owned by the Stampede and he'll probably report to the WFLU club next year.

Voices were weighted to give equal balloting strength to each city. The defending champion Kitchener - Waterloo Dutchmen had one player chosen for the offensive team and three on the defensive squad. London Lords placed two on the defensive team and four on the offensive and Detroit Riders, who played only six of the 10 - game schedule, were represented by one man on offense.

The offensive team:

Flying wing — Dave West, Kitchener - Waterloo; halves —

The defensive team:

Safety — Ernie White, Sarnia;

halves — Charlie Evans, London;

Bobby Fivesh, London, Davey

West, Kitchener, Waterloo; secondaries —

guards — Jack O'Toole, London; Don Davey, Sarnia; tackles —

CLUTCH CURLING IN TOTEM BONSPIEL

Matt Baldwin Rink Wins 5th Straight

By BOB TRIMBEE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

VANCOUVER (CP) — Sensational clutch curling by Matt Baldwin of Edmonton and his third, Bill Price, carried the Edmonton rink to its fifth-straight victory in the fourth annual $10,000 Totem Bonspiel here.

Baldwin, who has had considerable control trouble in the early going of all his matches, again Monday night turned on the pressure in the last half to squeeze out a victory.

The three-time Canadian champion scored a 10-8 extra end triumph over veteran Frank Avery of Vancouver, despite having trailed 6-1 as late as the fourth end. Baldwin narrowed the score to 8-5 after seven ends and then counted single points on each of the last three ends and two in the 11th for his victory.

SETS THE STAGE
Price set the stage for the extra end by slipping a rock past a guard and holding on to the four-foot circle. Avery's third, Lyle Dagg, missed on a take-out attempt and Baldwin was quick to set up a guard.

The Vancouver skip missed his draw attempt and Baldwin put another guard in front of his shot rock. Avery missed again on a draw attempt.

It was a repeat performance in the extra frame, Baldwin getting a rock inside the house behind a guard and forcing Avery to sneak around front rocks and try to draw in. On the last shot of the match, Avery just missed getting through a narrow port and chipped in a Baldwin guard to give the Edmonton rink two points.

It was the first match of the five-day bonspiel that pitted two contenders and about 450 fans crowded the rink to see the game.

The loss of Avery's first ended any hopes of his gaining the coveted Grand Aggregate Trophy.

Baldwin, the favorite from the opening rock, is one of 12 undefeated rinks, left after 14 draws. Glen Gray, a member of his first Canadian championship rink in 1954, also remained undefeated as did the Ian Auld rink of Calgary.

Reg Stone of Trail, five-time B.C. champion, heads the B.C. list with Bung Cartmel, 1956 Totem champion, of Vancouver.

TOPPING RATED
However, Dick Topping of Oliver was rated as an outside contender after a solid display of curling.

Topping, a veteran Okanagan Valley curler, has ranked among the best rinks in the province for several years and now is given a good chance of reaching the finals in both open events.

Ken Anderson's Calgary rink, defending Totem champions and the only rink to win an event each year the bonspiel has been held, suffered its first loss, 9-1 to Bill Osborne of Port Alberni, B.C., in an afternoon match.

Directors are: Chuck Bleasdale, Dave Stocks, Marvin Syer, Bob Perkins and Mrs. John Lawson. Captain will be Tom Fell.

Other plans for the coming golf season discussed included a junior golf development program, a night school program for beginners and possible changes in golf dues. Following the well-attended meeting, those present enjoyed a social.

Zora Survives Long Count to Beat Bygraves

LEICESTER, England (AP) — Heavyweight contender Zora Foley of Chandler, Ariz., today found himself with a new tag — the man who beat the "long count."

It happened Monday night in his winning fight against Joe Bygraves of Jamnien, former British Empire heavyweight champion.

The 27-year-old American floored Bygraves for a nine count in the second round. Then came the controversial delay of a second or two in the referee's count. Bygraves got to his feet and the fight continued.

"I reckon the referee could have counted to 12," said Bill Swift, Foley's manager. "But it's okay. It gave the British a chance to see just how good Foley is."

There was no official explanation of the "long count," but it seemed to stem from a misunderstanding between Scottish referee Frank Wilson and the time-keeper.

Vancouver Ready For Big Classic

VANCOUVER (CP) — It's the full before the storm here today, as Vancouver quietly prepares herself for that fierce Canadian football hysteria known as Grey Cup fever.

Just about everything is in readiness for the annual whoop-de-doo Saturday. Only two more elements are needed — a few more thousand fans and the Big Four champion Hamilton Tiger-Cats.

The Western champion Winnipeg Blue Bombers made a business-like entrance into the west coast city Monday. They headed straight out to Stanley Park's Brockton oval to work up an appetite for dinner.

Coach Bud Grant, glad to get away from snow-covered Winnipeg Stadium, was still critical of Vancouver's Empire Stadium, site of Saturday's game.

LOOSE GRASS
"I'm surprised that the field isn't better than it is," he said. "Can't they do something to make the grass root more firmly? It certainly comes out in great clumps when the field is used."

"The turf is too soft. We've all ways found it heavy. Sort of spongy. I know when I was playing I found it fatiguing. And I know our players get more leg weary than they do in other parks."

Otherwise Grant had no complaints. Twenty-six of the 28 players he brought with him are in perfect shape and the other two — fullback Charlie Shepard and end Keith Pearce — are expected to be free of their hip injuries by Saturday.

All will work out daily through Friday at Brockton. Except for Wednesday's practice, which will be a special affair for newspaper photographers, they'll be as private as the oval's fences allow.

BALMY ARRIVAL
The temperature was 10 below zero when the Bombers left Winnipeg Monday. It was 45 when they trotted out to practice here.

"It was a little wet, but otherwise wonderful," said Grant. "The kids were running like blazes. They were happy to be on a field where they could get traction again."

The Tiger-Cats are due in at 4:30 p.m. PST Wednesday. Coach Jim Trimble will work his charges at Queen's Park Arena in nearby New Westminster.

Temperatures dropped into the 20s in Vancouver overnight and snow by Wednesday. But officials at Empire Stadium took no chances.

DOWN EVERY NIGHT
"The tarpaulin goes down tonight — and every night until the day of the game," said stadium manager Dave Dauphinee. "We'll lift it every morning. If we leave that tarp down it will only tend to sweat and yellow the field."

Dauphinee didn't share Grant's opinion of the stadium's condition.

Warriors Win
On Mosienko's
Overtime Goal

SASKATOON (CP) — Billy Mosienko's goal at 2:15 of the overtime period gave Winnipeg Warriors a 4-3 victory over Saskatoon Quakers in a Western Hockey League game Monday night before 3,000 fans. The win pulled Winnipeg to within one point of the third-place Quakers.

Steve Wituk, Garry Brisson and Wayne Larkins scored the other Winnipeg goals. Bob Robinson, Elliott Chorley and Jackie McLeod tallied for Saskatoon.

Quakers led 2-1 at the end of the first period and 3-2 at the end of the second. Winnipeg got the only goal of the third period to force overtime.

DOUBTFUL GOAL
There was doubt about the winning goal as the red light did not go on. Referee Al Paradise blew his whistle to halt play and then went over to see where the puck was resting under Quaker netman Lucien Dechene. The referee declared it a goal amid loud protests from the Quakers.

What in the world
(of newspaper reading)
interests a woman most?

ANSWER: WOMEN ARE WILD ABOUT ADVERTISING!
An analysis of readership by type of content shows that among women, advertising is in first place. Among men readers advertising ranks third, just ahead of the sports news. This readership by both sexes is entirely voluntary, making for a very receptive atmosphere for advertisers to register solid impact with their sales messages. That's why so many use the daily newspaper.

THREE'S A CROWD

It appears that John Pierovich of UCLA is getting a boot straight in the face as he attempts to block this punt by Dave Grosz of the University of Oregon, but John escaped injury. Doing the blocking is Charlie Tourville of Oregon. Game, played in Los Angeles, was won by UCLA.

National Leaguers Are Scoring More

MONTREAL (CP)—More goals are being scored in the National Hockey League this year than were scored last year, and New York's Andy Bathgate is contributing a big share.

Bathgate, Rangers' brilliant right wing, drove in three goals and five assists last week to take a big seven-point lead in the scoring race over Chicago's Eddie Litzenberger and Montreal's Bernie Geoffrion.

He ran his total to a league-leading 14 goals and a second-best 14 assists for 28 points. Litzenberger managed only one goal during the week's play, dropping down from last week's tie with Bathgate, and Geoffrion came through with a goal and three assists to climb up from a third-place tie.

NINE FOR LITZ
Litz now has nine goals and 12 assists while Geoffrion has eight and 13.

Montreal's Maurice Richard, hockey's greatest scorer, failed to get what would have been his 600th goal in league and playoff games.

The best the Rocket could do was get an assist, giving him 10 goals and eight assists for 18 points and a fifth-place tie. He was tied for third at the start of the week.

FOUR-WAY TIE
Henri Richard, kid brother of the Rocket, added one more assist for a league-leading total of 16 and got his fourth goal for 20 points and a third-place tie with team-mate Jean Beliveau, Chicago's Bobby Hull and Detroit's Gordie Howe.

League statistics show that 287 goals have been scored in the NHL's first 50 games this year compared to 261 for the first 50 games of last year. Average goal-scoring per game is up to 5.74 from 5.22.

Fair Weather Probable for Grey Cup Game

By BOB TRIMBEE

Canadian Press Staff Writer
VANCOUVER (CP)—Eastern football fans coming here for the Nov. 29 Grey Cup final might be wise to bring along a warm wool sweater, raincoat, umbrella and galoshes. And if they intend to stop over on the Prairies en route, a heavy overcoat is prescribed apparel for that leg of the journey.

No official forecast has been issued for Nov. 29 when East meets West in the country's greatest single sports spectacle, but on the basis of weather on that date over the last 50 years, the possibilities are:

Cloudy skies, at least a threat of light rain, 45-degree temperature and light winds. Fog is not a threat.

November generally is cloudy and stormy weather on the Prairies is possible, say Prairie forecasters.

Fans who hope to be at Empire Stadium for the 1:30 p.m. PST (4:30 p.m. EST) Cup kickoff, could be crossed up.

Last Nov. 29 the sun shone most of the afternoon and, if it is any consolation, there was no rain during the 1955 final here when Edmonton Eskimos defeated Montreal Alouettes 34-10. That was on Nov. 26, the temperature was a cool 36. Two hours after the game ended rain poured down on the city followed by snow before midnight.

Weather office records here show that rain has fallen on Nov. 29 in 22 of the last 53 years, most before the mid-1940s. Skies were cloudy in nine of the last 10 years on Nov. 29, but little or no rain has fallen.

The last time it rained heavily enough on Nov. 29 to have any appreciable effect on football playing conditions was in 1953. Then there was less than one-fifth of an inch of rain.

Fog has been serious on only one Nov. 29 in the last 10 years. It happened in 1956 when visibility was limited to about 225 yards. Only once since British Columbia Lions joined the Western Interprovincial Football Union in 1954 has a league game here been interrupted by fog.

With minutes remaining in a night game against Winnipeg Blue Bombers Oct. 23, 1954, and Bombers leading 18-0, play was halted because of fog. Bombers were awarded the game.

Faloney is Man With a Mission

HAMILTON (CP)—Bernie Faloney, the man who will direct Hamilton Tiger-Cats' defence of the Grey Cup, is going to Vancouver determined to show western football fans how wrong they were four seasons ago.

The tall 190-pound quarterback was generally described as a poor pass-thrower when he led Edmonton Eskimos to victory in the 1954 Grey Cup. The Eskimo power that year concentrated on razzle-dazzle handoffs and a crushing ground offensive.

Last season, when Faloney's field generalship sparked Ticats to Grey Cup victory, it was much the same. Plenty of smashing ground gains but not much of an aerial display.

Western fans who saw that game in Toronto, in which Faloney's plays dumped Winnipeg Blue Bombers 32-7, conceded that the Ticat quarter was masterful on the ground. But they still criticized his lack of a good throwing eye.

SWITCH TO THE AIR

This season the 26-year-old

Maryland native has made a sharp switch to the air and the Big Four schedule left Eastern Canada fans in no doubt about his abilities in that department. Faloney came up with some spectacular passing as the Ticats flattened the opposition and rolled to easy league and playoff triumphs.

Now it only remains to show Western Canada fans the Faloney passing wizardry. And judging from season play that's just the kind of game coach Jim Trimble will throw at the Blue Bombers next Saturday in Vancouver's Empire Stadium.

Ticats have been working hard on their passing offence this week in preparation for their departure Wednesday. They worked out on a snow-covered field Monday and will do more of it today.

Faloney topped the Eastern League this season in average pass gains with 9.2 yards per throw. His completion percentage was 54.4.

Out west though, he's still Faloney the ground man who can't pass worth a dang.

STELLA SWIFT TOPS SENIOR CITY BOWLERS

Stella Swift turned in the highest single game of the night as she swept individual ladies' honors in Senior City Mixed League five-pin bowling action at Bowl-a-Mor Recreations last night.

She turned in a 353 single and a 705 triple. John Ledenich took men's high single and triple with scores of 297 and 753. Starmix had team high single at 1270, while Four Twenty-Fives had 3179 for team high three.

In Monday Mixed League play, Sharpshooters took team high single with 984 and team high three with 2636.

Eileen Dalgas swept ladies' honors with a 265 single and 688 triple. Al Patterson duplicated her sweep in the men's division with a 260 single and 673 triple.

Legion, Flyers Take Midget Hockey Games

Legion edged Beavers 2-1 and Flyers trounced Rotary 9-1 in midget league hockey action at the arena Monday night.

Wilson sent Rotary off to a 1-0 lead in the first period of their game. Morgan tied it for Beavers early in the third only to see Ewing score the winner at 14:30 on a pass from Cuzzocrea.

In the other game Rotary scored first. Roadhouse got their only goal halfway through the opening period. Specht and McNeil scored for Flyers before the period ended.

Pearson, Brent and Goodman scored in the second period. Goodman scored two in a row in the third to complete his hat trick before Spaurer and McNeil scored to complete the rout.

What medium do teen-agers rate "most practical"?

RADIO?

TELEVISION?

MAGAZINES?

THE DAILY NEWSPAPER?

ANSWER: THE DAILY NEWSPAPER. In a recent study of teens made by Eugene Gilbert & Co., the daily newspaper was shown to be a big influence on their living and spending habits. When asked which medium they considered the most practical, 54% said it was the daily newspaper, while only 17% named TV. To advertisers who want to get their share of the $9 billion teen market, we say, "Tell it to the teens in the daily newspaper!"

Crowe Victim Of Injustice

TORONTO (CP) — Dismissal of Prof. Harry S. Crowe from the faculty of Winnipeg's United College is denounced in a report by a two-man committee of the Canadian Association of University Teachers which investigated the incident.

The report says Prof. Crowe is a "victim of injustice" and was dismissed on "less than a shred of evidence" by authorities of the United Church school who made improper use of a letter written by the professor to a colleague.

The 78-page report made public Monday night, says Prof. Crowe was wronged and should be invited by the college board of regents to resume teaching at the rank he had when dismissed and at a salary in keeping with his ability and length of service.

LETTER FROM KINGSTON
The letter, written by Prof. Crowe from Kingston, Queen's University, fell first into the hands of Dr. W. C. Lockhart, principal of United College. It was the central issue in a decision by the college regents July 2 to dismiss the 36-year-old professor with a year's notice. The regents later fired him summarily after an exchange of communications on salary and contract terms.

No details of the letter, described by the principal as a "profoundly disturbing" document, have been made public. Those who have read it say it contains criticisms of faculty members.

The committee report says the letter's publication would be "without justification, making further inroads into the privacy of personal communications."

Dr. Lockhart's reading of a personal letter not addressed to him and later discussing it with the regents was "an invasion of personal privacy," the report says. It calls the dismissal action "an unjust and unwarranted invasion of the security of academic tenure to which he (Prof. Crowe) was entitled."

"TACTLESS" HANDLING
It describes the handling of the situation by the board and Dr. Lockhart as "tactless and arbitrary."

The investigation was carried out by Vernon C. Fowke, professor of economics at the University of Saskatchewan, chairman of the special committee, and Bora Laskin, professor of law at the University of Toronto.

The committee was set up by the CAUT in the midst of the dispute over the professor's letter, which was addressed to W. A. Packer, associate professor of German at United College.

An unidentified person intercepted the letter and mailed it to Dr. Lockhart in another envelope with a note reading "Found in college hall. We think you should read it. Some staff loyalty??"

PHOTOGRAPHS MADE
Dr. Lockhart made photostats and turned the original letter over to Prof. Packer.

The principal said in a letter to Prof. Crowe that the Kingston letter had led him to the conclusion the professor had no sympathy for the college's avowed purpose and no respect for the administration.

The report suggests Prof. Crowe a hearing or previous notice of the charges which were to be aired against him in his absence, the board dismissed him without giving any reasons, and some seven weeks later announced to his teaching colleagues that he was dismissed for protesting what he considered a misuse and misconstruction by Principal Lockhart of a private letter.

The committee report refers to an open letter from Allan H. Watson, chairman of the board of regents, Aug. 26 which accused Prof. Crowe of attempting "to intimidate the principal and the board by threats of legal and other action" and by public denunciation, and said the professor "reflects an aggressive belligerency that appears to make any long term relationship between himself and the college impossible."

TEMPERATE PROTESTS
Disagreeing with this description of Prof. Crowe's actions, the report says it finds "on the evidence, that Prof. Crowe's protests were neither intemperate nor aggressively belligerent nor vigorous beyond the point of reasonable firmness" and that "they warranted neither dismissal nor discipline short of dismissal."

Salary was a point in the dispute. The college board decided July 2 it would be better if Prof. Crowe were not retained on the staff but that he could return for one year at his old salary of $5,000. Prof. Crowe declined, saying it was less than new salary schedules for other professors on equal ranking.

He contended the offer constituted "termination of employment without notice."

Returning to the college Sept.

2, he refused to accept legal notice of termination and seven days later the board voted to him $5,521 in lieu of notice and asking him to sign a release freeing the college from threat of legal action. Prof. Crowe returned the cheque and would not sign a release.

QUESTION OF FREEDOM
Discussing the question of academic freedom, the report says "it is no part of the function of a professor to speak only in accents familiar to the administration."

The report, approved during the weekend by the CAUT executive, says the facts of "the greatest concern" to it are: "First, that the board of regents took a decision of crucial importance to the future of Prof. Crowe... on what can without exaggeration be characterized as less than a shred of evidence and second, that they failed to confront Prof. Crowe with any charge and gave him no opportunity to speak to any charge."

The regents said the letter revealed an attitude toward religion that was incompatible with the traditions and objectives of United College, that Prof. Crowe overstepped the limits of decency in the manner in which he named six faculty members, two of whom are deceased, and that certain statements brought contempt upon religion.

SIMPLEST WAY
The report says an offer to restore Prof. Crowe to former status would be the "simplest as well as the most direct way of bringing to a conclusion an episode in the Canadian academic community which, it is to be hoped, will never be duplicated."

In a separate statement after the report was made public Rev. Dr. W. Harold Young, secretary of the United Church board of colleges and secondary schools, said the report was the result "of an inquiry in which witnesses were heard on one side only."

The Toronto secretary said nothing in the report "shakes the confidence of the United Church in the integrity of Dr. Lockhart and the board of the college."

and were expected to win by about the same margin in the new state setup of 40 senators and 40 representatives.

VISITING PARTY BRASS
The campaign has drawn known political figures. Among those touring the territory were Vice-President Richard M. Nixon, Interior Secretary Fred M. Seaton and Democratic Senator John F. Kennedy of Massachusetts.

Democrat E. L. (Bob) Bartlett, 54, for 14 years Alaska's non-voting delegate to Congress, was considered almost a certain winner in a Senate bid against Republican R. B. Robertson, 73, and Independent Keith Capper.

The other Senate race appeared a tossup between Republican Mike Stepiovich, 39, and Democrat Ernest Gruening, 71. Both are former appointive governors.

Democrat Ralph Rivers, 55, was favored slightly over the Republican Henry Benson, 48, in the congressional race.

William Egan, 44, the Democratic candidate for governor, also appeared ahead in his race against John Butrovich, Jr., 48.

Residents will vote in four major and 24 local districts stretching nearly 1,400 miles from Ketchikan to Barrow and to within sight of Soviet soil in the majority in the 1957 territorial legislature of 21 to 3 in the 400 square miles — nearly 2 1/2 House and 11 to 5 in the Senate — times the area of Texas.

Democrats already had an edge of 62 to 34 in the U.S. Senate and 283 to 155 in the House and were likely to add to the margin here in 1958.

Democrats held a commanding majority in the 1957 territorial legislature of 21 to 3 in the 400 square miles — nearly 2 1/2 House and 11 to 5 in the Senate — times the area of Texas.

Insurance Pays For Film Losses

By BOB THOMAS

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP)—A star dies in the middle of a picture. A big wind blows down an expensive movie set. A star's pregnancy causes a $400,000 delay in shooting.

What happens to cost-pinched producers when troubles like this occur?

In most cases, they are covered by insurance. If they can prove damage, they are compensated swiftly and in full.

Roland V. Lee, who is substituting the American desert for the Biblical lands of his movie epic, "The Big Fisherman," has been shooting here for two weeks. A high wind ruined expensive tents and other props to the tune of $40,000. The schedule had to be juggled to film elsewhere while the sets were being rebuilt.

PROMPT PAYMENT

"I haven't read the small type of the insurance contract," said the veteran producer, "but if our claim is proper, the company will pay promptly. They don't want people to think that they haggle over such things."

Insurance is a big item on every movie's budget. Each company is insured against damage to sets, injury to workers or by-slanders, etc. The producer is insured against loss of services of important members of the cast.

Observers believe Edward Small will get back the money lost on Solomon and Sheba because of Tyrone Power's death. When Marilyn Monroe's absences from "Some Like It Hot" will be paid for is another matter. Much depends on whether or not she is pregnant. She won't confirm it.

In the case of "The Big Fisherman," Lee has the cast insured for $2,500,000. The picture itself will cost at least $4,000,000. The insurance runs 75 cents a thousand, which by rough calculations comes to $18,750.

may hear wherever you go such counsel as: in notrump play always establish your longest suit; or else, build up your secondary suit; and so on ad infinitum.

But actually, each hand should be dealt with on its merits, as the occasion arises, and without regard to pre-established concepts. For example, when a heart is led in this hand, it would be incorrect for South to attack the diamond suit at trick two.

Observe what happens if he does. East takes the ace and returns a heart. No longer can South make the contract. He has only eight tricks regardless of what course he then follows. What occurred was that East, the dangerous hand, obtained the lead before South was ready to cope with him.

If South makes the proper play at trick two of leading a low club to the jack, he can be 100 per cent sure of the success of the contract. If the finesse wins, South can then force out the ace of diamonds to assure nine tricks. If the finesse loses, West can do South no injury by leading a heart, and any other lead is equally ineffective.

It probably seems strange that declarer's attention is first directed to building up one club trick rather than four diamond tricks, but the power of the play is self-evident.

Hinging Device Used to Allow Royal Yacht to Clear Bridges

By M. MONTYRE HOOD

Special to The Herald

LONDON — The problem of shortening the masts of the Royal Yacht Britannia, so that it will be able to pass under the bridges on the St. Lawrence next summer, has been solved in an ingenious manner. Instead of cutting some 20 feet from her mainmast and the wireless aerial on the foremast, a hinging device has been fitted to them. This will enable them to be lowered without destroying the symmetry of the yacht's rig.

In a statement issued by the Admiralty, details are given of the operation which has been performed on the masts of the Britannia. The Mainmast has a height of 123 feet, the foremast of 118 feet and the mizzen mast of 103 feet above waterline. As the maximum safe height to pass under the St. Lawrence bridges is 116 feet, some way had to be found of reducing the height of the masts.

The Admiralty decided that telescopic masts would be too expensive. To simply cut the masts by the required amount would have given a stumpy appearance and this was discarded as unacceptable.

Solution of the problem was found in a plan to hinge the mainmast and the foremast aerial at an appropriate distance from the top. By hinging the aerial in a forward direction into a bracket crutch, the height has been reduced by the required three feet.

ACQUITTED OF BRIBERY CHARGES

Acquitted on bribery charge, Kingston business man Arthur Mason shakes hands with his counsel, Joseph Sedgwick, right. Addressing the jury, Mr. Sedgwick suggested that the charge was a conspiracy on the part of Mayor Boyce and Commissioner Andre, who said that Mason had offered them $10,000 each if they could give the gas franchise of the city to Consumers' Gas Co. Mason has still to be tried on the charge of bribery instituted by the mayor.

NORAD Says Continent Could Survive Attack

By DAVE MCINTOSH
Canadian Press Staff Writer
COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (CP) — North America can be defended well enough from air attack to survive and win a war, says Gen. Earle Partridge, commander-in-chief of the North American Air Defence Command.

He made the statement to Canadian reporters Monday as he and his deputy, RCAF Air Marshal C. Roy Slemmon, discussed exhaustively the present and future strength of NORAD.

Gen. Partridge and Air Marshal Slemmon stressed that the manned interceptor will be required in the air defence system "for as far into the future as we can see."

Air Marshal Slemmon said new manned interceptors are an "in-escapable requirement" and that the supersonic Arrow jet being developed in Canada will be the highest performance fighter plane available in North America until the U.S. F-108 is ready in five or six years.

The U.S. F-106 now is coming into greater use by NORAD squadrons.

At Toronto, where Avro Aircraft Limited is pressing ahead with the Arrow program although the Canadian government has not decided whether to buy the plane, Fred Smye, Avro board chairman, appeared to nominate the Arrow as the logical air defence choice for the years preceding the F-108's arrival. "The F-106, the Arrow and the F-108 are three darned good planes," he said. "What's more, they complement each other time-wise. Avro can fill any reasonable order for the Arrow, including the supply of NORAD."

Air Marshal Slemmon said here Monday he thought the Arrow had a higher performance rating than the F-106. But he added that NORAD does not recommend specific types of planes either to Washington or Ottawa.

At Ottawa there was no immediate defence department comment on his remarks.

Air Marshal Slemmon made clear that NORAD has recommended to the Canadian defence department that it maintain interceptors. Gen. Partridge said North America "must have interceptors for a long time for the control of air space if for no other reason."

Prime Minister Diefenbaker announced Sept. 23 that the Canadian government was deferring until March its decision on whether to order the Arrow into limited production. But the tone of his remarks at that time was that the Arrow program would be cancelled.

Air Marshal Slemmon said the air defence system is being pushed northward as more radar for the control of interceptors is installed. At present any bombers attacking North America from the polar regions would be engaged on a line running roughly through James Bay.

There are some 200,000 personnel in NORAD and 69 fighter squadrons—nine of them RCAF—61 Nike missile battalions, 45 ships and 700 stations of all kinds. One American squadron is based at Harmon Field, Nfld., and another at Goose Bay, Labrador.

MAY SHIFT HQ
Air Marshal Slemmon said introduction of the new SAGE electronic system into the air defence system may mean the shift of RCAF air defence command headquarters from St. Hubert, Que., to some other location. This matter was being discussed at defence headquarters.

The American Bomarc ground-to-air missile will be introduced into the Canadian air defence system in 1961 and SAGE will help control missile and interceptor operations in the triangle east of the Great Lakes.

Monitors Giving Hoffa Tough Battle

By GEORGE KITCHEN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON (CP) — James R. Hoffa, the teamster boss who has defeated scores of foes in his roughshod rise to the top, appears to be in danger of losing his grip on his 1,600,000-member union through court action.

Even if he hangs on as president of the giant Brotherhood of Teamsters, he may be forced to share his power with outsiders—a development that would be almost certain to slow down the expansion of the Hoffa empire.

Hoffa, who survived a series of bouts with the U.S. Senate's labor rackets committee earlier this year, now has come up against a tougher opponent in the person of the courts and already has bowed to the extent of delaying plans for a February convention at which he would seek re-election.

TOUGH CHALLENGE
Court-appointed monitors are leading the assault on the embattled Hoffa and a committee of dissident teamsters is joining in.

A recent hearing before District Judge F. Dickinson Letts constituted the most serious challenge Hoffa has faced since his acquittal last year on bribery charges. Judge Letts appointed the three-man board of monitors last January under a compromise settlement of a suit brought by the dissident teamsters. His decree let Hoffa take office as provisional president, with the monitors assigned to police the union's operations.

Earlier this month, the monitors went before Judge Letts to complain that Hoffa was giving them the runaround by dodging suggested union reforms and to ask for broader reform enforcement. The request was taken under advisement.

COULD BE BARRED
The monitors also have asked the judge to decide whether the compromise decree is illegal under U.S. federal law. This opens the way for Judge Letts to set aside the decree, bar Hoffa from serving as president, put the Hoffa executive board back in charge of the union and appoint a receiver to oversee the whole operation.

The monitors have another legal weapon ready in case Judge Letts declines to oust Hoffa. They have filed a petition asking the judge to block Hoffa's proposed February convention and to compel compliance with their clean-up orders.

This petition—a backdrop to the ouster move—threatens to keep Hoffa shackled indefinitely. He wants to hold an early convention primarily to win re-election in his own right, free of supervision by the monitors and the courts.

Meantime, lawyers representing dissident teamsters have filed a brief suggesting Hoffa be ousted and the union put into receivership. They obviously feel they have a stronger case than the one they settled with a compromise last January when Judge Letts appointed the board of monitors.

Since then, the Senate rackets committee has developed new charges against Hoffa and his lieutenants, including an allegation that 56 per cent of the votes cast for Hoffa at the union convention last fall probably were illegal under the brotherhood's constitution.

The union shows signs of retreating before some of the monitors' demands. It has agreed to consider a request for an overhaul of its bookkeeping system. The monitors have been demanding, among other things, that the union set up centralized accounting records, especially a list of members in good standing. There is no such master list now.

Hope-Vancouver Highway Widening Starts This Winter

KAMLOOPS (CP) — Work on the first phase of a highway-widening program between Hope and Vancouver will be started this winter, Highways Minister Gagliardi said here today.

The job had been held back so it would provide winter employment, he said. It eventually will involve widening of the highway from Hope to Chilliwack to four lanes and the highway from Chilliwack to Vancouver to six lanes.

Land needed for widening a six to eight mile stretch just west of Abbotsford has been acquired and tenders for construction will be opened in Victoria this week, he said.

The government will spend between $6,000,000 to $7,000,000 acquiring land for the road widening, he said.

Four Arrested After Wave of Cattle Rustling

KELOWNA (CP) — RCMP arrested four men following a wave of cattle rustling in the Black Mountain area near here.

Police said one suspect was arrested after the foreman at the Joe Casorso ranch captured an unidentified man shortly after he had shot a steer and was cleaning it about 9:30 p.m. Sunday.

Three other men escaped following the incident. RCMP later arrested three suspects and brought them here. No charges have been laid.

VANCOUVER (CP) — Jack Phillips, secretary of the Vancouver Civic Employees Union (Outside Workers), announced Monday the union will seek a 16-cent-an-hour wage boost for its 1,500 members for 1959. Present basic rate is $1.84 an hour.

"It is the feeling of the executive that our demands should be as few as possible in 1959," Mr. Phillips said. "We feel we shall have a stronger case, and stand more of a chance of making real gains, if we concentrate on key needs of the membership."

Rail Overpass Is Not Sinking Says Gagliardi

KAMLOOPS (CP) — Highways Minister Gagliardi today denied reports that the Elliston railway overpass four miles east of Kelowna is unstable and sinking.

In an interview here, Mr. Gagliardi said he has received reports from department engineers showing the structure to be sound. He said land for approaches has been purchased and construction will start immediately.

Kelowna delegates to the Okanagan-Caribou Trail Association meeting in Oroville, Wash. Saturday said the overpass has been slipping because of poor footings.
